"If God is for us, who is against us? He who did not spare his own Son but gave him up for us all, will he not also give us all things with him?" (Romans 8:31-32)

From the Catechism...

36. Why does the Profession of Faith begin with the words, "I believe in God"?

The Profession of Faith begins with these words because the affirmation "I believe in God" is the most important, the source of all the other truths about man and about the world, and about the entire life of everyone who believes in God.

Gift Aid: New sets of planned giving envelopes for those who use them, are available at the back of the Church. They are in alphabetical order. Please remember that you can Gift Aid your weekly offering to the parish. We get an additional 28p for every £1 you give. If you would like to sign up for Gift Aid, please see Margaret Taylor.

Catholic Education Week: Next Sunday sees the beginning of Catholic Education Week. The theme of Catholic Education Week 2009, building on last year, is 'Bringing Values to Life'. Given the current financial crisis which highlights the folly of building dreams on aspirations of material success, it is appropriate that we should focus on the values which we teach to children and young people, in our family homes, our parishes and our schools. Addressing this theme will enable us to review the values and virtues which should guide our behaviour. It will also lead to understand the loving truth of the Gospel, to know God and his goodness. The Holy Father has described the responsibility of parents and teachers to lead the young. There will be a special second collection for the work of the Scottish Catholic Education Commission, next Sunday.

"Catholic identity demands . . . that each and every aspect of your learning communities reverberates within the ecclesial life of faith. In this way ... [our schools] become places in which God's active presence in human affairs is recognised and in which every young person discovers the joy of entering into Christ's being for others." (Pope Benedict XVI)

Pope Benedict XVI has launched himself into the digital age today with the Vatican announcing that a YouTube channel www.youtube.com/vatican dedicated to his activities and events at the Vatican is now online. Currently, the Channel contains clips of Pope Benedict XVI delivering his Christmas Message and Blessing, the January 1 celebration of the World Peace Day and some segments of the Pope speaking about the advantages of new social technology.
